To the Assayer
of the Mint Philadelphia.

Dear Sir,

I left with the door keeper of the Mint in your absence, a sample of "Nickel" which I presumed you would be likely to purchase, should it have escaped your notice I would be pleased to draw your attention to it again.

The price I asked was  $\frac{150}{100}$ per lb, I want to sell it and would be pleased to hear from you with the best offer you can make for it about 600 lbs. If you are not the proper party to apply to please hand this to whomever is.

Yours &c
Andrew Robertson
